

EMBRYO SCRIBES GET PRACTICAL WORK IN SCHOOL

Journalism Department of College Prepares Best Exhibit in State

The journalism department at Lawrence college now may well boast of the best collection of feature articles and pages, and illustrations of mechanical processes used in setting up newspapers and advertising copy which has ever been compiled in any college in the state. Through the efforts of Prof. W. B. Lindsay, head of all the journalistic work offered at Lawrence, a great number of newspaper syndicates have sent complete samples of the service which they offer newspapers.

The bulletin board which extends across the entire back wall of the journalism room is covered with hundreds of articles of interest to the students in the department. Several magazine page releases for every day of one week are shown. Funny strip releases for a week, Sunday funny sections, special features which are used by many newspapers, beauty hints, cooking specialties, fashion stories and everything which goes to make up a service to newspapers is displayed. All of these articles have been sent to Prof. Lindsay by syndicate with which he is in close touch.

BIG AID TO STUDENTS
Every effort is being made to give the students a thorough understanding of the mechanical end of journalism. By enlisting the aid of advertising agencies and manufacturers of most improved machinery, Mr. Lindsay has been able to procure a great amount of material. One of the greatest needs of the department, however, is cases of type with the use of which the students may actually get up their headlines and advertisements. With the new material for the use of the students coming in rapidly, the small room now used for the journalistic work is being crowded.

Besides the actual newspaper services which are being sent to Prof. Lindsay, many concerns have sent him books showing headlines, uses of types, and countless treatises on kinds of machinery. One firm which gets out a splendid book on type effects sent copies enough for the advertising copy writing class for which more than 20 students have registered. Prof. Lindsay's efforts have brought the department's work to the notice of the syndicates who have asked for cooperation from the department in supplying feature articles.

BROTHERS' ARMY PANTS HANDY FOR THESE HIKERS

Tramp, tramp, the girls are hiking and hiking in brother's army pants, at that! Many letters have gone out from Russell Sage and Ormsby dormitories over the past week end asking mother to send brother's army pants before the big hike on Saturday since the girls are going hiking en masse and in pants.

The girls in the accompanying picture started out after 7:30 Saturday night to hike to Neenah. They hurried about to borrow enough army duds to make the hike a well dressed affair and after having their picture taken, they started on their way. Perhaps you met them, going up the hill in the Fourth ward or maybe it was on the Interurban street car between here and Menasha.

The young women who enjoyed themselves thoroughly caused a good deal of a sensation in Neenah, where a gang of small boys followed them and really worried them a bit. A nice burly policeman came along just then and the damsels in distress appealed to him to scare away the naughty boys. The girls say that their followers just melted away at one word from the representatives of law and order.

Being the center of attraction on the street is rather a tiresome job, so the girls went to a restaurant for sustenance and incidentally to dance. They admit that they returned by street car and made plans the while for a big hike next Saturday morning. If the number of girls go who say they are going, Appleton will witness a female S. A. T. C. parade.

Many girls have taken to hiking since the vogue of wearing these sen-

Preparations are Completed for Second Term of Religious Training School

On Monday evening the Training School for Religious and Social Workers will begin its second term in Appleton. A splendid selection of courses is being offered to be taught by competent leaders in the community. The period of training will continue until April 17.

The school will be run on the same plan as it was last year with the first class at 7:35 the assembly period at 8:20 and the second class at 8:45. The courses which are being offered in the first period are religious psychology in handling men by Dr. F. M. Ingler, principles of social and recreational leadership by Miss Constance Johnson, problems in religious education by Prof. E. E. Emme. During the second period, christianity and modern problems will be taught by D. Wilson S. Naylor, stories and story telling by Ben J. Rohan and christianity and modern social problems by Dr. D. O. Kinsman. Only one study in each group may be elected.

Regular sessions of the school will take place on Monday evenings. Those who attend are classed as regular students who enroll for the diploma which is granted after three years; auditors who do the work of the school in class but find it impossible to do work at home and visitors, who are welcome at all time. The school was started last year under the direction of Prof. E. E. Emme head of the department of religious education at Lawrence college. He will be the director of the school this year.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS STOP OFF IN APPLETON

Several officials of the Northwestern Railway Co. who were on their way south in a private car, stopped over in Appleton Wednesday. Among them were General Freight Agent D. H. Hoops, General Passenger Agent J. L. Ferguson, General Coal Agent McCullough of Chicago; D. B. Curtis, traveling freight and passenger agent of Fond du Lac; and H. C. Chaney, division freight and passenger agent of Green Bay.

Man Saves Wife in Nick of Time

"My wife was unable to eat even the lightest food, and had fallen away to a living skeleton. She could not even keep doctor's medicine on her stomach and was tortured with pain. On the recommendation of a friend I bought a bottle of Mox's Wonderful Remedy and she is all right now and has gained forty pounds." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—Adv.

More Art And Less Lace In New Valentines

Valentines which will bring a smile or a tear of sentiment are those which are most popular now instead of the huge "To My Sweetheart" ones which are bedecked with much paper lace and frills when you and I were young. Pretty little cards carrying an appropriate verse to "Him" or to "Her" which may be slipped into an envelope are the ones which will make the mails heavy in a day or two.

Cards with funny sentiments also are popular. Valentines still take a crack at "us old maids," who are supposed to be out looking for any kind of man. The funny cards are comic but not so crude in either their sentiment or design as in the old days. Although the cards have changed somewhat, hearts, arrows and cupids are still the insignia of the patron saint of lovers and sentimentalists. St. Valentine.

WARM WEATHER KEEPING SECTIONS CREWS BUSY

Section men of the railroads entering Appleton have had more work the last two days than they can handle, due to melting snow and ice. The water accumulates between the rails wherever there is a depression and it is frequently necessary to cut long grooves in the ice to drain it. The frost occasionally loosens the ties making it necessary to insert a thin piece of wood between the tie and the rail in order to make it firm. The presence of quicksand or a concealed spring is always noticeable at this time of the year. One of these quaggy sections is to be seen between the rails at Appleton Junction, where the Ashland division track crosses that of the Northern Wisconsin division.

AN OUTGAMIE FARMER

The center of activity of Outgamie county is not always confined to the corporate limits of the city of Appleton. Neither do the really big men of the county all claim their residence within the boundaries of the county seat. Among our farmers we have many men of forceful initiative and character, and the Post-Crescent takes this opportunity to point to William G. Jamison of Greenville who has recently been honored by the University of Wisconsin for his activities as a stock-breeder and dairyman. There is no question but that Mr. Jamison has been rightfully recognized for his great work, but this is a singular honor.

Mr. Jamison is an asset to his community, to Outgamie county and to the state of Wisconsin. His leadership is an inspiration to every farmer who knows of him. He is the type of a man whose activity spells progress, efficiency, and prosperity. If there were more Jamisons Outgamie county's achievements would set a pace that could not be equalled by any other farming county in the United States.

THE FAILURE OF PATERNALISM

Government efforts to help the housing situation have resulted in failure and abandonment of the project in England. While the activities resulted in the construction of 70,000 houses and will result eventually in the building of 165,000 it was found that the cost was running so high and was placing such a burden on the people in increased rents and taxation, that the scheme which originally provided for the construction of 500,000 houses was given up.

The building of private houses in Great Britain had fallen off rapidly for five years previous to the war. In 1919 the situation became so acute that the government passed the housing bill by which the central government bound itself to make good the greater part of the annual and unavoidable loss from the necessity of building at a time when prices of material and labor were at the peak. Whole towns were planned, streets were laid out and public buildings arranged. To meet the expenses of the venture, the government placed upon each of the eighteen hundred English municipalities the responsibility of issuing bonds necessary to secure the capital to carry out their respective housing plans.

It was apparent from the first that there would be a great deficit each year. Houses which before the war cost 250 pounds to build now cost the government 1000 pounds even with the discounts and advantages enjoyed by reason of such wholesale operations. Evidently any scheme which contemplated inducing the working man to pay a weekly rent from four to five times what he had been accustomed to pay could not be carried out.

When the wave of economic reform reached parliament in 1921 the costly operations of the housing act were brought up for discussion. The debate disclosed that if the plan was carried through as originally planned there would be a loss to the central government of more than $100,000,000 per year for a period of sixty years; that sum being the difference between money invested at six per cent and the low rents which would have been charged. The only way to meet this deficit would be to tax the general public, already heavily burdened with taxation.

The latest report dated Dec. 9, 1921, showed houses estimated and approved 165,000 and completed to date 70,100. Housing conditions in England are better to that extent, but the cost to the government has been enormous and in spite of its authority and its ability to deal on a wholesale basis with manufacturers and labor unions, it has not been able to enter the building field with any practical success.

The failure of what has been attempted in England carries a lesson to the United States, where paternalistic movements have been carried to extremes. Private initiative is better than government assistance in our personal and business affairs. Doing for the individual what he ought to do for himself only undermines the spirit, desire and determination which make character and success. There has been a marked tendency in recent years to look to the government to solve problems that were essentially problems of individual or corporate resourcefulness, courage and initiative. To the extent that this idea makes headway just that much it weakens our self-reliance both as individuals and as a nation.

BUSINESS INDICATIONS FAVORABLE

Normally, January and February are dull months, filling the interim between the holidays and spring, and corresponding to the dullness usual to midsummer. In many parts of the country the present period is somewhat more quiet than in most years, as the concluding adjustments of the commercial depression are working to a focus. Nevertheless, the outlook for the year is exceptionally encouraging. Reports from all sections indicate that tendencies are toward pronounced business revival in March and April, with every probability that the year's production and trade will be greater than in any of the years prior to the war.

The industrial and agricultural productivity of the United States is much larger than it formerly was, and in order to take care of surplus manufactures and farm products foreign markets will have to be secured. It is an admitted fact that the maximum prosperity can be attained only with the growth of international trade. There is a latent domestic trade far in excess of business of 1914 and preceding years, and the stimulation of this commerce is indicated by improving conditions all over the United States. The general expectation is that, judged by pre-war standards, this will be an excellent year.

Manufacturers and business men are confident that the year's commerce will be of large proportions, and they manifest the conviction that business will get under headway in a few weeks. Renewal of industrial activity will not only revive wholesale and retail business, but will also restore the demand for farm products.

MR. HAYS' MOVIE PROBLEM

Eighty-seven per cent of the average person's education is acquired through the eyes. An educational expert tells this to a senate committee, discussing movie censorship.

Until recent years knowledge could be transmitted to the brain, through the sense of sight, only by reading printed type, traveling or watching instructive happenings.

In possibilities, the movie is scores of times more powerful than any of these. The possibilities so far have been largely neglected. A sign of progress is the growing demand that movies be made instructive as well as entertaining.

Moving picture films will be the slates, blackboards and text books of future schools. Twenty millions of Americans attend the movies daily. Only 17,000,000 are in schools and colleges.

Will Hays should see, in these figures, the necessity for making motion pictures clean, wholesome and instructive. Children forget book lessons easily. What they see at movies is indelible, in most cases never forgotten—especially if it is something they should not know. A clean movie is mother of a clean next generation.

Princeton's Democratic Step

Princeton has made a democratic move the wisdom of which might well be followed by other universities. It has not directly forbidden its students to keep motor cars, but it has expressed its disapproval of the practice so plainly to the parents of the students that the growing evil doubtless will be ended.

It is obvious that the young man resident in college does not need an automobile. His hours of recreation ought to be spent at something beneficial to either mind or body. When the student's class hours are over he can find plenty of amusement in the gymnasium or the library, or in walking over the countryside. It would be a bold undergraduate who would contend that his motor car brought him anything more than joyriding.

Of course the evil does not lie so much in the joyriding as in the extravagance and the display. That is why President Hibben of Princeton, in his admirable letter to the parents of students, emphasizes the value to young men in college of "simplicity in living and the elimination of unnecessary luxuries." Conditions in the world today, as Dr. Hibben points out, make it undesirable that young men in the formative period should indulge in high living. Indeed, there never will be a time, no matter what social conditions are, when the youth of the colleges should let their nature run away with their brains.—NEW YORK HERALD (Ind.)

Rumor is defined as a "flying report," but that "f" in flying seems superfluous.—GREENVILLE (S. C.) FLEDMONT.

ARTHRITIS AND METABOLISM

Victims of chronic or long standing joint inflammation are happily rid of one of the bugbears that ever dampened what little joy a rheumatiz sufferer can get out of life. There is no particular relation between red meat, white meat, blue, brown, pink or green meat, or meat of any shade or color, and joint disease or any other disease that ordinarily masquerades under the name of rheumatism. This is the verdict of science, of physiological chemistry. Some well meaning doctor long ago conceived the fetching theory that uric acid might have something to do with the causation of joint disease. We know better now.

In a study of 400 cases of chronic arthritis in soldiers, Dr. Ralph Pemberton and co-workers found that there was no difference in the uric acid and urea metabolism of these patients and that of normal persons. That was their finding from accurate chemical tests of the blood.

Dr. Pemberton, as I have mentioned in a previous talk, betrayed a singular state of mind, for a thoroughly trained and experienced physician, when he signed to "expose" the role of poisonous factor in over half of the cases of chronic arthritis, the he emphasized the fact that the actual cause was of course one or another kind of infection. Aside from this faux pas Dr. Pemberton certainly understands chronic arthritis, and I wouldn't mind having him try his hand at treating me if I had it.

He believes of numerous modes of treatment—exercise, certain forms of electric treatment, heat applied in various ways, certain internal medicines, in some cases autogenous vaccine treatment, in some cases removal of discoverable septic foci about the tonsils, teeth, pelvis, colon, and in some cases carefully managed ductless gland therapy—because they increase oxidation in the system, increase metabolism generally and in the joints affected. Then in some cases Dr. Pemberton finds that a marked reduction in diet—a diminished amount of all kinds of foods, chiefly a cutting down in the carbohydrates which constitute some 60 per cent of our nutrition—constantly aids the healing process in the affected joints by lessening the normal ordinary load on metabolism.

QUESTION AND ANSWERS

Winter Itch

Will you please describe accurately in your column the disease, if there is such a disease, known as the winter itch. How does it affect a person? Just what are the symptoms?—(G. A. L.)

Answer—I have a most engaging letter on the subject, and you may have a copy of it by mail if you will send a stamped, addressed envelope and repeat your request.

Protruding Ears

Please tell me whether there is any way in which protruding ears can be made to stay in a natural position.—(F. M.)

Answer—Only by a creative operation by a competent surgeon.

Tooth Cleaning

Can you publish a formula for removing tartar and the film formed from inveterate smoking from the teeth?—(Mrs. T. E. H.)

Answer—it is advisable to go to your dentist to have accumulations of tartar removed, for nothing you can apply yourself will accomplish the purpose.

Singers and Their Tonsils

My teacher had his tonsils removed and his voice is unimpaired. His star soprano, a woman who could make a name in any opera company, is going to have hers removed because she suffers from mucus in the throat. The specialist tells me he has operated on many singers whose voice were if anything improved after the removal of diseased tonsils. My teacher upholds him, citing many instances.—(M. B. V.)

LIGHTFOOT LARRY

Lightfoot Larry, restless lad,
Ran away from mother, ran away from dad,
Ran away from everyone he had known
And started 'round the world all by his lone!

LIGHTFOOT LARRY, restless kid.

Beat it for the distances, so he did,
Hit the open country and the deep sea track,
"I won't return," said Larry "till I'm coming back."

LIGHTFOOT LARRY, restless chap.

Wandered all the countries that are on the map,
Shivered in the Arctic, sweltered on the Line,
Fought and starved and suffered—and he liked it fine!

LIGHTFOOT LARRY, restless lad.

Came back home to his ma and dad,
All his worldly fortune was some 18 cents
With a million dollars in experience!

LIGHTFOOT LARRY, blithe and brown.

Sort of thought he'd marry and just settle down,
Now he's got a job—but he won't stay put,
LIGHTFOOT LARRY has an itching foot!

LIGHTFOOT LARRY, restless lad.

In off once more for a world-wide gad,
With a little fool girl as his gypsy wife,
And won't he lead her just an awful life!
But when Larry calls—well, a girl must go
And I'm the girl, so I ought to know!

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

The Knickerbocker Disaster!

Not many people, whether experts or those who have followed the story of the collapse of the Knickerbocker theater in Washington, will be inclined to agree with the ROCK ISLAND ARGUS that "the only explanation of the tragedy is that it was to be." Rather the suspicion prevails as the NORFOLK VIRGINIAN PILOT expresses it, "there was not a frightful act of God, but a frightful mistake of man", for, as another writer says "somewhere somebody blundered."

But whatever investigation may develop as to the causes, the lesson is so clear that the press intends that it shall be thoroughly learned and applied. "Fearful disasters of this class are, alas, the price we have to pay for stimulated vigilance in the domain of public security," observes the SYRACUSE HERALD, and newspapers everywhere demand that the price shall not be paid to no purpose. "The fire in Chicago," the NEW YORK GLOBE recalls, "resulted in revolutionary changes in theater construction throughout the country," and with the advent of the movie, the safety of theater buildings has become a much more serious problem, the NEW YORK POST adds. The fire hazard has been reduced to a minimum as a result of the terrible Iroquois fire, now the question is "whether adequate provision has been made for its being made against such a structure hazard." In fact, as the ST. LOUIS GLOBE DEMOCRAT sees it, the effort to reduce the danger of fire has resulted in a system of building which "presents perils of its own."

And now "the new construction of concrete trusswork and reinforced concrete that 'Coca-Cola' and other one-per-cent brands would so pains takingly as to save us from the other. The ROCHESTER TIMES UNION reminds us that "the old builders, working in stone, erected structures which have stood the storm of centuries, and if this century had been stone there is no excuse for failure to attain safely with the much superior modern material, steel."

Certainly "if any owners can afford to build safe buildings," the NEW HAVEN REGISTER thinks "it is the owners of moving picture theaters," and the BROOKLYN EAGLE notes "abundant evidence that care has not been extended to all construction of houses for movies, and this Washington house was built when costly movie theaters were few and far between," and "with moving picture theater buildings springing up like mushrooms," the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL puts it, the Washington catastrophe, the SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE contends, "lays the whole subject of picture house construction open to review," and "calls for a most searching investigation of motion picture houses all over the United States."

Immediately back of the tragedy lies the relaxation of building laws and inspection "to permit the speedy erection of mushroom buildings" during the "cheerful war period," as the OMAHA NEWS and the ROCKY MOUNTAIN NEWS express it, and back of that, in the opinion of many writers, lies the civic system which makes Washington "one of the worst most perfunctorily governed cities in the country," to quote the KNOXVILLE SENTINEL. The citizens of the District of Columbia, the ASHEVILLE TIMES points out, "are the helpless wards of the federal government," and "it is to be true that the building laws are too lax, then Congress must accept a large share of the blame." Indeed, "in the end Congress is the guilty party," declares the PHILADELPHIA RECORD, for, as the HARTFORD TIMES explains it, "Congress controls every penny that is spent in the District of Columbia, and Congress, 'if it does not provide funds that are sufficient . . . to enforce its building laws and other laws, is in part responsible for what follow from parsimony or neglect."

Responsibility for this dreadful catastrophe homes at last to the government of the District of Columbia," declares the NEW YORK WORLD. But what it asks, is that government?—a question which the ITHACA JOURNAL NEWS undertakes to answer thus:

"A representative from Dinglewood, Bushyhead Corners, New York's East Side or heaven knows where, who never saw the capital until he was somehow elected to Congress, has the right to say to the people of Washington how many schools they shall have, what they shall pay their teachers, what shall be the police force, and force. Men from all parts of the country who know nothing of Washington's needs and Washington's problems and often times don't give a hang have the sole right to determine what kind of government TELEGRAPH has to have."

CHRISTIAN (Mich.) TELEGRAM approves Senator Frelinghuysen's suggestion that while the collapse of the Knickerbocker theater is being investigated the government of the District should also undergo investigation for if it is lax in enforcing the building code "it probably is lax as to other things which affect the health, safety and welfare." After all, the SPRINGFIELD (O.) NEWS thinks, Congress "has too much to take care of to enable it to give very close attention to Washington as a city," and since, as the NORFOLK (Neb.) NEWS says, "no one with a sane head could expect without representation can be found," the WILKES BARRIE RECORD contends that "the city ought to have municipal government by a popular choice for a better regulation of its affairs," and the PARKERSBURG (W. Va.) NEWS hopes that "in the capacity which has overgrown Washington will have an argument in its fight for a greater degree of home rule that may at least be needed."

But "other cities are not governed by Congress," the NEW YORK EVE-NING WORLD observes, and it is now "up to them to see for themselves that their building laws are adequate and that the many rapidly erected structures for use as theaters are rigidly inspected before an after completion." THE BURLINGTON (Vt.) FREE PRESS holds "The American happy-go-lucky instinct and tendency to take little heed of possible dangers largely responsible," but "if the public remains apathetic toward unsafe structures after the hastily unsafe lesson in Washington, then, the ST. JOSEPH NEWS PRESS declares, "the public must share the responsibility."

Re-Trying The War Criminals

London. — As far back as last August the Supreme Council decided that a Commission, consisting of two jurists a piece from Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium, should inquire into the Leipzig trials of war criminals and report to them. The Commission has met this month in Paris, and its unanimous finding is, against the Leipzig Commission, and in the LONDON CHRONICLE, it holds that in a few cases the Court did not try to ascertain the truth; that the few punishments which it inflicted were too light; that it would be useless to submit further cases for trial by it, and that the Allies should demand from Germany the surrender of those tried for retrial by Allied Courts.

"This drastic finding, although unanimous, corresponds more closely to the French and Belgian view of the trials than that of the British experts who took part at Leipzig. The British in fact, foresaw better than their Allies; for we obtained convictions in five out of our six cases, while the French obtained only one conviction in five, and the Belgians failed in their one case. The difference was partly due to a difference of method, and it is being made against them by the fact that the Allies should demand from Germany the surrender of those tried for retrial by Allied Courts."

The Microscope As A Detective

London. — From the land of Sherlock Holmes, whose history as a clever detective is known to all of the many readers of A. Conan Doyle's series of books portraying unusual methods of crime detection, comes interesting information as to the value of a microscope as an adjunct to crime detection. THE LONDON CHRONICLE tells the story:

"The microscope is not neglected by British crime specialists. The real eye of Scotland Yard is a compound optical lens which, with the aid of the camera, is able to produce evidence such as the sharpest eye of the law could never visualize."

"So many mysteries which occupy the attention of Scotland Yard depend upon trifles, facts often unobscurable to the naked eye, that every detective, like every medical student should have a working knowledge of a modern microscope. In Germany and in America microscopy is put into more general uses than in this country."

"There is no phase of crime where the microscope is not used. In combination with chemical reagents its use has practically wiped out the bank note forger and the large scale counterfeiter, and it has also been used with the high power lens. When links were copied successfully by the forger the bankers took to performing their checks. It is recorded that a forger got past this perforation method on one occasion by ingeniously filling the holes with a substance which would not show up under the microscope."

"Many instances have occurred in the past of the superiority of microphotography taken. Some years ago, there was a photo search of a will signature, and when the enlargement was made it was revealed that the signature was a mere scribble, evidently made before the inked forgery was uttered."

"Blood stains, faint scratches upon pages and locks are essentially details the value of which the microscope is called upon to decide. Hairs, especially, prove valuable clues, and a hair which is not infrequently found in the microscope's aid."

"The microscope is not infallible in crime, but it is the deadliest sleuth in hand the murderer has always silently lying in wait for him."

MATT SCHMIDT & SON
TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS FOR MEN

Food Values

By R. H. Bishop

Various distributed in all kinds of vegetable food are found the three substances that serve as body fuel, protein, fat and carbohydrate.

The vegetables having the largest amounts of protein are the legumes—peas, beans, lentils and peanuts. In fact, all nuts have a considerable store of protein element.

Next in importance are the cereals, with wheat, corn and oats at the head of the list. Other vegetable foods contribute varying small amounts of protein.

Carbohydrate in a pure form is found in sugar, refined from the juice in the beet and sugar cane. Sugar is likewise found in the juice of sweet fruits and vegetables, as oranges, grapes, apples, corn and peas.

Another form of pure carbohydrate is starch, found in wheat, oats, corn, potato tubers, tapioca and in lesser amounts as bananas, peas, beans and nuts.

In olive, cottonseed, peanuts, cocoa-beans and other seeds is obtained pure fat. It is found in abundance, too, in nuts, but only in small amounts in other kinds of vegetable foods.

While plant foods might be considered the original source of human energy, animals, too, supply us with each one of the three body fuels.

In animal food, as we eat it, there is little carbohydrate except in the milk. Scallops, oysters and clams are also exceptions. Fat is found more or less intimately associated with lean in all kinds of meat.

The leanest animal food is perhaps the codfish. Milk contains fat in the form of cream and butter and bacon also offers fat in acceptable form.

Lean meat affords fuel in the form of protein. Milk and eggs are valuable for their protein content. Cheese consists chiefly of the protein from milk with or without fat according to the kind of cheese. White of an egg has all its fuel in the form of protein, while the yolk contains part protein and part fat.

Blame Glands For Grouch

Philadelphia. — Condition of the glands is at fault for low morals and crime waves, says Dr. Arthur M. Flack, dean of the College of Osteopathy here.

"The way stimulated the glands to a high emotional tension," Dr. Flack says. "We are now in large measure suffering from the result with a great crime wave and with low moral standing."

And here is something else about glands:

If you are accused of being the family grouch or an aggressive pessimist, consider the condition of your adrenal glands which are located just above your kidneys. They may make you choleric, irascible and hard to live with, says another physician, Dr. Emanuel Jacobson.

"A supernal individual," says Dr. Jacobson, "is one in whom the adrenal glands are abnormally active, shows by virtue of that active vitality, certain traits of character that are rather interesting."

"Such a person is choleric, hard to live with, is the family grouch and aggressively pessimistic."

Likewise, the individual with less than a normal secretion in these glands will be cold-blooded, unsympathetic, apathetic and listless."

It is still good advice to watch your step, but also keep an eye on your glands!

Q. What scores is it possible to make in cribbage? H. F. S.

A. The best hand counts 29 (30 if dealer has 4 fives and turns a jack), and it is not possible to count 13, 25, 26 or 27.

Q. When will a class in Army nursing begin? M. B. C.

A. Deer are characterized by the absence of a gall bladder.

Q. What gives India ink its gloss? B. O. S.

Q. Why was Philadelphia called the Red City? J. Y. R.

A. The term is probably due to the fact that red was the predominating color originally, many of the houses being built of the red brick.

Q. How was the Rock of Ages written? H. N. W.

A. According to the story, Wesley, the great leader and hymn writer, and Toplady, the Anglican churchman met and were drawn into a very heated argument over some current theological questions. They argued until long after midnight. Neither yielded a point. When they separated, Toplady was wrought up to a high state of spiritual excitement. Not being able to sleep he sat and thought. In a moment of exaltation the words of the hymn, "Rock of Ages" began to come to his mind. He began to write. Before dawn, he had produced this major hymn.

Q. Why was Philadelphia called the Red City? J. Y. R.

A. The term is probably due to the fact that red was the predominating color originally, many of the houses being built of the red brick.

EMANUEL CHURCH WILL DEDICATE $90,000 EDIFICE

Visiting Pastors Will Speak at Elaborate Exercises All Day Sunday

Special to The Post-Crescent.
New London.—The ambition of the Rev. A. D. Spiering, pastor of Emanuel Lutheran church of this city for the last 29 years, will be realized on Sunday, Feb. 12, when dedication services for the magnificent new church building will be held. The Rev. Mr. Spiering turned the first shovelful of dirt on the eighteenth day of last April and the cornerstone was laid on July 4. The complete cost of the church will approximate $90,000, nearly half of which already has been voluntarily contributed.

The former church which was razed last spring to make way for the new edifice, was built at about the same time that the Rev. Mr. Spiering took charge of the New London parish. Its seating capacity was about 500 while the new church will accommodate more than double that number.

Through the untiring efforts of the pastor, the congregation has increased in number from 104 to 438 members during his 29 years of service.

The dedication exercises will begin at 9:30 in the morning. The members of the congregation will assemble in the basement, and led by their pastor and visiting clergymen will march to the front entrance of the church. After a brief out-of-door service, the Rev. Mr. Spiering will lead his congregation into the building for the dedicatory services.

PROFESSOR TO SPEAK
At the morning program, a sermon will be delivered in German by Prof. A. Pieper of the Lutheran seminary at Wauwatosa, and an English sermon by the Rev. E. E. Ziesmer of Mount Olive Lutheran church of Appleton will follow.

The services will be resumed at 2:30 in the afternoon, with English and German addresses by the Rev. J. E. Bergmann of Fond du Lac, president of the joint Wisconsin Synod. At the evening program at 7:30 services will be conducted in English by the Rev. E. E. Schuster of Oshkosh.

The ladies of the Aid society, who have added considerably to the building fund through suppers, bazaars, etc., will serve both dinner and supper in the basement of the church.

The new building was designed by Victor Thomas, a local designer and contractor and the construction was in charge of Schoenrock and sons, local contractors. At the annual meeting of Emanuel Lutheran congregation recently, the men chosen to serve as trustees were Charles Pommeroy, Fred Vohs and Elmer Rohloff.

SCOUT MOVEMENT IS PROGRESSING IN ELECTRIC CITY

Numbers Are Assigned to
Troops and Other Arrangements are Made

Kaukauna.—The Boy Scout movement in Kaukauna progressed another step as a result of a meeting of the pastors and representatives of the churches with H. P. Buck, Appleton scout commissioner, at 5 o'clock Thursday evening in the library building. Those present were F. M. Charlesworth, Jr., the Revs. E. L. Worthman, A. E. Tink, Daniel Woodward and Father LeMieux; Wilbert Foster, Charles Heitling, William Garvey, Charles Heitling and Lyle Webster.

A report showed that the local scout organization has a little more than $216 to its credit in the banks. It was voted to have this money divided into five equal parts, a fifth to be turned over to each troop. There was a question as to whether the Reformed and Congregational churches should be classed as one or two troops, but it was generally agreed that either church will find little difficulty in securing enough boys for an independent troop.

The number estimated that at least 150 Kaukauna boys will become enrolled in the organization within a few months. The troops will be numbered as follows: Congregational and Reformed church, troop No. 21; Methodist church, troop No. 22; Holy Cross church, troop No. 23; St. Mary church, troop No. 24 and 25. Troop No. 23 was left open for the Reformed church troop which, it is expected, will soon have enough boys to warrant separation from the Congregational church. Troop No. 25 was reserved for Holy Cross church. There are already enough boys interested in St. Mary church to form two troops.

J. B. Delbridge, chairman; R. J. Metcalf, W. F. Ashe, M. P. Mitchell, were announced as members of the Methodist church troop committee. F. M. Charlesworth, Jr., will be the scoutmaster. The committees in other churches have not been named as yet.

Announcement was made of the celebration of scout anniversary being conducted this week. Boys in this city who are interested in joining the scouts are invited to join the group which leaves on the 3:45 car Saturday morning for Kimberly where it will join the Appleton scouts for an outing. A few young men offered their assistance as leaders and everything is set for a large Kaukauna delegation. Contests of various kinds will be held and prizes will be awarded the winners.

MULFORDS DEFEAT SCOUT TEAM, 17-10

Appleton Boys Downed in Sensational Game in Kaukauna Auditorium

Special to The Post-Crescent.
Kaukauna.—The Appleton basketball team won from Kaukauna Boy Scout troop No. 2, 17 to 10, Thursday night in one of the most exciting games played this season in the auditorium. The scouts outplayed the heavier Mulford team until late in the last period when the locals rallied and scored the scouts of their feet. Ed Kennick's Specials defeated the Kaukauna Boy Scout team in a preliminary game by a score of 20 to 9.

The Appleton basketball team led over Mulford from the beginning. They started scoring after the first two minutes of play, the first basket being made on a sensational shot from nearly the center of the key. Engstrom garnered a free throw and the scouts followed with another spectacular field goal. The game was hard fought throughout and very few good chances to score were allowed.

With the count 6 to 5 in favor of the invaders the first period ended. Players on both sides practically "all in". The scouts continued to outplay the Mulford in the second half but were unable to score. The ball in many cases hitting the inside of the ring and bounding out again.

A sudden spurt of speed in the fourth quarter turned the tide of battle and in a minute Mulford scored two field goals and took the lead. From then on the end of the game they took the initiative, occasionally scoring a basket. The visitors were held on two baskets in the last half.

EDWIN W. FIELD.

"I'm convinced if I had taken Tanlac two years ago, when my troubles first began, I would have been saved a world of suffering," said Ed. W. Field, 538 Jefferson St., Milwaukee, Wis.

"My case proved that when a man's stomach goes wrong, everything goes wrong with him. The first thing I noticed out of the way was loss of appetite and next, that no matter how sparingly I ate, I was sure to have an attack of indigestion. I finally got so I couldn't walk a couple of blocks without having to stop and rest and I was so nervous that often I sat up in a chair all night long."

"Tanalac has made a new man out of me, my stomach is as sound as a dollar and I feel fine all the time. I am a firm believer in Tanlac because I know it delivers the goods."

NOTE—The International Proprietaries Co., distributors of Tanlac, have on file in their offices at Atlanta, Ga., over fifty thousand signed statements from representative men and women from every state in the Union and every Province in Canada. Many of these are from prominent people in this city and section and have been previously published in this paper.

Tanalac is sold in Appleton by Voigt Drug Co. and by leading druggists everywhere.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD
Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid Is Cause of Indigestion

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate, sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescent and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity; remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

BANKRUPTCY PLEA FILED BY RACINE TIRE COMPANY

Racine.—The Racine Auto Tire company, operating a large tire plant in this city, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy Thursday afternoon in Circuit court here.

Assets of the concern are given as $1,642,000 and liabilities as $1,483,000. H. O. Smith, Milwaukee, who has been managing the plant in the interests of Milwaukee stockholders, declared Thursday afternoon that owners of the company believed that going into the hands of a receiver would solve present financial difficulties. Business, he said, has shown a marked increase since Jan. 1. The fact that certain creditors were pressing their claims, he declared, made it necessary to go into the bankruptcy court in order to protect everyone interested in the affairs of the firm.

Normally the company employed 1,200 workmen. The factory has been operating with a force of but 200 men in recent months.

POOR ATTENDANCE BLAMED FOR ILLS OF RURAL SCHOOLS

County Superintendent Jenkins Offers Certificates for Perfect Attendance

Irregular attendance is blamed for most of the ills of rural schools in Outagamie-co. by County Superintendent Florence Jenkins in a statement to newspapers of the county.

In its train comes poor school work, lack of school spirit and the indifference and even open animosity of parents who should be the best friends of the teacher and the school.

To stimulate regular attendance Miss Jenkins is issuing certificates of award to pupils who attend school three months without being absent or tardy. For each succeeding three months of perfect attendance a seal is given to be attached to the certificate. It is not necessary that the months be consecutive in one school year; that is, they may be carried over till the following school year and credit will be given.

Parents are asked to cooperate in getting every school actively interested in improving attendance by looking over the following list of schools and seeing that their own school is taking part in the better attendance campaign. Here are the names of the schools which are making this effort and a number of certificates so far issued to each:

Are Girls Hindrance To College Athletics? All Up To Girls They Say

Coach McChesney Says Girls
Are Temptation to Break
Training—Girls Insist They Can Help Men Work Harder in Their Sports.

"In a coeducational school, too many parties tempt the football man," said Coach H. D. McChesney of Lawrence college when discussing the charge recently made at Northwestern University that the college was the real cause for low standards in athletics there.

"When the girls are in the same school with the athletes, there is too big a temptation for the fellows to go to parties and get 'gipped' before they amount to anything," said another coach. "After they have been thrown over, they set out to show that girl that she will be sorry and they amount to something."

Of course love may be good for some people and awfully bad for the rest of us, but violent cases usually have played havoc with my grades."

Returns From Florida
F. D. Pendell of Fond du Lac, division superintendent of the Northern Wisconsin division of the Northwestern road has returned from Florida, where he went shortly after the death of his wife and is again on duty at his office.

HOW IT WORKS
"Girls make a fellow break training rules," said one football man of experience. "She either takes his time from his athletics or from his studies. Few fellows can be active in athletics keep up their grades and go out 'cropping' with the women. Love sort of bucks some fellows up, but the most of us have to keep away from the women or rather from the one woman during the season."

"Of course a fellow has to be in love to be a good athlete," said a prominent basketball man. "Every athlete wants glory and when she is sitting in the gallery watching every move and every shot with admiring eyes, oh boy, that's what counts. Glory in her estimation is worth more than world fame."

"What type of girl does the athlete pick out who makes him break training?" asked a sprinter. "Look around at some of the bobbed haired and feather brained girls who are always with some of the athletes and then you'll see why fellows break training. I'll tell you another thing, the fellows who go with steady girls do not break rules because the girls are interested enough to help and not hinder. Some of the fellows who capitalize on their athletic prowess by going out with a different girl every time are the ones who have the chances to break training because the girls do not care so long as they have a good time."

WHAT GOOD IS A BOOK?
"That is another 'it all depends on the sort of girl' question," said a co-ed. "Of course if the athletes pick out the sort of girl who thinks only of a good time, he will break rules and eventually other girls envy her chance to help."

"Love may be an incentive in athletics, but it surely plays havoc with studies," said an embryo journalist. "Gosh, you may be able to work off the thrill in playing football, but her face keeps coming between you and a book, what good is the book?"

"Whether being in love is an incentive or a hindrance depends on the stage of the game," said a senior server of such things. "Now those first awful weeks when a fellow does not know whether she likes him or not and when he has to clear the field of all rivals, there is no doubt about it being a hindrance. And if a fellow never gets any further than just falling for a Jane rushing her hand and then dropping her, or being dropped, his studies and his extra curricular work are going to suffer."

HE SAYS HE KNOWS
"But when a fellow decides that his girl is the only girl on the campus and begins to think about graduation and a little grey home in the west, things are different. They decide that he must make his grades and make a mark for himself in school and he does it. Love like that makes a man. Believe me I know."

"Some men need to fall in love and get 'gipped' before they amount to anything," said another coed. "After they have been thrown over, they set out to show that girl that she will be sorry and they amount to something."

Of course love may be good for some people and awfully bad for the rest of us, but violent cases usually have played havoc with my grades."

Every mother who has a child thin, delicate and ailing, will be interested in the report of the Nutritional Expert of one of America's greatest Medical Colleges, in regard to SUSTO, a Nutritive Tonic Food Tablet, which has been tested and approved at that College. After a test extending over many months, here is what he says:

"In every instance where under-nourished infants and children were given SUSTO, important body-weight increases were registered. A notable case is that of a boy of eleven who had been under weight for three or four years in spite of the best medical and dietetic treatment. The feeding of SUSTO produced a gain of six pounds."

"SUSTO, as improved by us, is an excellent nutritive tonic and growth-promoting therapeutic agent which should prove useful to all who wish to put on weight to under-nourished children and adults, and to men, women and children in general, who show signs of a run-down system."

It will pay every mother who has a delicate, weak, ailing, under-weight child to try SUSTO, also any person who is under weight, run down, nervous or anemic.

East

To be able to converse in Chinese language even more fluently than in English is the accomplishment of the 5-year-old grandson and 4-year-old granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Clausen, who reside on Lawrence.

The parents of the children, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Connell, left for China shortly after their marriage seven years ago, where Mr. O'Connell is engaged in Y. M. C. A. work. Both children were born in China and this is the family's first visit to the United States since taking up its residence in the Orient.

The grandparents have been making their home in Appleton less than a year. They moved here from Wausau and at the time their daughter met her husband she was a student at Oberlin college. Mr. O'Connell was then a member of the faculty, but gave up teaching as soon as he was married.

Both like their new home and have no desire to return to the United States to make their permanent residence. They are stationed in the southern part of China, where the climate is delightful except in mid-summer which Mrs. O'Connell and the children always spend among the mountains in the northern provinces.

SELL WISCONSIN FIRST

Wisconsin manufacturers and retail merchants are more favorably situated than any in the country for increased sales in 1922.

For Wisconsin is composed of 30 compact, developed business centers with average population of 37,500. All are massed in one giant market of 1,125,000 buyers. This is nearly half the population of Wisconsin, one of the richest states in the Union.

The manufacturer located in any part of Wisconsin can influence the biggest part of these 1,125,000 buyers quickly, easily and economically. The retail merchant can reach the buyers in his particular community with equal profit.

For each part is covered by one paper and the whole by one group of papers comprised in the Wisconsin Daily Newspaper League—that encircle the 1,125,000 buyers from Superior to Beloit, from Sheboygan to LaCrosse from north to south and east to west.

These 1,125,000 buyers are buying because they are working and earning. Their high income is founded on the diversified industrial and extensive agricultural leadership of Wisconsin.

Wisconsin manufacturers and merchants! Sell Wisconsin First. Get immediate profits in your immediate market!

Whether you sell tractors or tooth-paste—whether your business amounted to $1,000,000 or $1,000 in 1921—you can increase it in 1922 by going out after it in the right way.

The right way is through the Wisconsin Daily Newspaper League. It is right because it is more economical and far-reaching than any other means. You can command the whole or any part of the 1,125,000 buyers at lowest cost through these newspapers.

The Post-Crescent will give you complete information. Or if you desire—write, phone or wire Wisconsin Daily Newspaper League headquarters at Janesville. Entire plans, preparation of advertisements and schedules will be handled with one simple effort. Every form of practical co-operation will be gladly extended—all troublesome details will be taken off your mind.

IMMENSE CROWD IS ASSURED FOR SUNDAY'S FORUM

Governor J. J. Blaine's Visit Here is Attracting Much Attention

One of the biggest crowd which ever jammed Lawrence Memorial chapel is expected to hear Gov. J. J. Blaine of Wisconsin when he speaks here Sunday evening under auspices of the Peoples' Forum on the subject of taxation. Several inquiries have been received from Neenah people who wanted to know what their chances were for getting in the chapel.

The program begins promptly at 7:30 with a concert by the military band. This feature alone is sure to attract an immense audience.

This will be the governor's first appearance in Appleton in several years and his only visit to the city since becoming the state's chief executive. He addressed a meeting in the courthouse a few years ago.

Taxation is the governor's most interesting subject. He has studied it from every angle and is expected to outline his views on the problem. In all his messages he has advocated changes in the methods of taxation and it is probable he will have some new ideas to offer.

The program will begin promptly at 7:30. A silver collection will be taken up to defray the expense.

BOYS HELD AT NEENAH NOT LAWRENCE STUDENTS

That Meriton Siegel and Webster Crowell who spent the weekend in jail in Neenah for drunkenness and disorderly conduct are not Lawrence students was the statement made by Dr. Spangui Plantz, president of the college. No students by that name are registered at the college nor have they attended Lawrence at any time. No students who could have given names other than their own can be located on the campus. It is the opinion of the president and others at the college that the boys told the Neenah police that they were Lawrence students when they really have no connection with the college.

PLANTZ ADVISES GIRLS TO LET MEN WEAR THE PANTS

College President Disapproves of Coeds Appearing in Knickerbockers

Rumors on the Lawrence campus that Dr. Samuel Plantz had absolutely forbidden the coeds of the college to wear knickerbockers for hiking were denied by Dr. Plantz on Friday morning. The president of the college said that he had advised the dean of women, Mrs. Mary B. Housel, to discourage the girls in wearing these costumes on the street and on the campus.

Girls who were indignant that these convenient and popular hiking outfits should be made taboo by the college had the story that the president had refused to allow girls who wore knickerbockers to remain in college. It was reported that Dr. Plantz had sent strict instructions to heads of each dormitory forbidding the girls to appear on the campus in the popular hiking attire.

In talking of the matter, the president said: "I do not approve of the girls appearing on the campus in trousers which were obviously made for men. I grant that these outfits are very practical for use in the woods and on hiking trips. Two girls on the campus recently caused much comment and disapproval from the faculty. We have suggested to the girls as a bit of very good advice that they discontinue appearing on the campus and about the school in such outfits."

No attempt has been made on the part of the girls at Lawrence to wear knickerbockers to class. The girls say that they have not been wearing them on the campus except when they have passed through the college buildings on their way around "three miles" and on other hikes.

Recreation Department of Womans Club Has Accomplished Wonders in Year

Appleton Womans club cottage on Lake Winnebago where many Appleton young women spent happy vacations during the summer offers proof of the great interest which the girls have in the work which they are doing under the direction of the club. The recreation department members under the leadership of the Sports Council have paid the entire debt on the cottage with the exception of $400. That may be paid before the club has had the cottage a year. When the need for a cottage where the girls could spend their vacations became evident last spring, every cottage large enough was inspected. None was available to rent and finally the department bought the August Meyer cottage and gave it to the Appleton Womans club early in May. The price of the cottage was $2,500 and Mr. Meyer made a donation of $300 to the girls.

With some money in the treasury, with which to make the initial payment on the property, the girls obtained $1,000 from the bank with interest and $500 from the club without interest. The bank note has been entirely cleared off and the cottage will be paid for within a year, entirely through the efforts of the girls themselves.

The community dances which the sports council gives monthly have been the largest factor in meeting the debt. Other activities of the department have also helped. As soon as this debt is entirely paid, the girls will turn their attention to some other need of the club or department for their enthusiasm and energy grows with their accomplishments.

CITY MUST HAVE GOOD CHARACTER, GANFIELD SAYS

Appleton Men Hear Interesting Address at Neenah Civic Assn. Meeting

Appleton was represented at the annual meeting of the Neenah Civic association Thursday evening. The principal speaker was Dr. W. A. Ganfield, president of Carroll college.

Dr. Ganfield spoke on "What Makes a Town Really Worth Living In." He was introduced by F. S. Durham who acted as chairman of the meeting. The speaker characterized schools and churches as the "two lungs" of a city and declared these must be in a healthy condition if the community is to advance.

Character is another quality a city must have, he said. As an illustration of this he mentioned Boston and Reno and declared that Hollywood's character has given it a national reputation during the last few weeks. He urged the city, like the individual, to be careful of its character. It makes. He complimented promoters of the proposed national advertising plan and said if the plan is carried out properly he has no doubt that it will not be long until the territory from Green Bay to Fond du Lac is one continuous city.

Slides shown on the screen which were prepared by Appleton Chamber of Commerce in connection with the launching of the advertising campaign were well received at the meeting in connection with the picture, "The Valley of Heart's Desire." The slides aroused much enthusiasm because they showed what can be done in the way of advertising a community through the motion picture.

REPAIR WORK ON LOCKS IS ALMOST FINISHED

The repairs which government engineers have been making to the second lock in Appleton are practically completed and the work of lowering the lock at DePere is well under way. The government has lately taken on additional work in the way of repairing the gates of the lock at Little Rapids, between Kaukauna and DePere. All these improvements will be completed before the opening of navigation next spring.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very curious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle. The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful of Mulsified is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

WOMAN'S ILLS MAKE UNHAPPY HOME

There is no question but what the ills of women conspire against domestic harmony. The husband cannot understand these troubles and the physician fails to help. It is, therefore, the overworked wife and mother continues to drag around day in and day out with headaches and backaches, fretful and nervous. Such women should be guided by the experience of women whose letters we are continually publishing in this paper. Many of the doctors that they have been restored to health, strength and consequent happiness by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after doctors and all other medicines had failed to help them. It will surely pay women who suffer from such ailments to try it.

BURTON-DAWSON STORE ROBBED OF $400 IN MATERIAL

Camisoles, Women's Coats, Bloomers and Skirts Taken by Marauder

Five filmy camisoles were not least of the loot secured by burglars from the Burton-Dawson company's shop at 775 College-ave. early Friday morning.

The swag also included three women's near seal coats, five pairs of bloomers and two skirts. In the absence of Mr. Dawson, no statement was made as to the value of the stolen articles but it was believed to be upwards of $400.

The store was entered at the rear door, police said, by pushing the door until the bolt gave way. All the articles stolen, it was said, could have been easily placed in a large traveling bag so that the burglar had little trouble in carrying away his haul.

Mrs. Dawson who lives on the second floor over the store said that she heard no noise during the night. The patrolman on the beat reported the door was locked when he tried it after midnight so the burglary must have been committed early in the morning, police said.

GUNSLIGHT PASS

by WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

He walked back toward the camp. From out of the chaparral a thin column of pale gray smoke was rising.

"Ready, Shorty?" he asked. The squat man nodded an assent and followed him over the summit into the valley beyond.

Brad Steelman sat hunched before a fire, head drooped low between his high, narrow shoulders. The restlessness of the dark hatched face were sunk deeper now than in the old days. In them was beginning to come the hunted look of the prey.

Steelman sidled to the door and opened it cautiously. A man pushed in and closed the door.

"Did you come here to make trouble Dug?"

"No, I came to collect a bill."

"So? Didn't know I owed you any money right now. How much is it?"

"A thousand dollars."

Brad shot a quick, sidelong look at him. "What's wrong now, Dug?"

The ex-foreman of the D Bar Lazy took his time to answer. He enjoyed the suspense under which his ally was held. "Why, I reckon nothin' at all. Only that this mornin' I put a match to about a couple hundred thousand dollars belongin' to Crawford, Sanders and Hart."

Eagerly Steelman clutched his arm. "You did it, then?"

"Didn't say I'd do it," snapped Doble irritably. "D'ya ever know me rue back on a bargain?"

"Shorty with you?"

"He was, and he wasn't. I did it while he wasn't lookin'. Shorty's got a soft spot in him. Game enough but with queer notions. Some time I'm liable to let him go."

Doble poured himself a large drink and took it at a swallow. I would, Brad.

Doble drank steadily throughout the night. He remained steady on his feet, growing uglier and more reckless every hour.

Tied to Doble because he dared not break away from him, Steelman's busy brain began to plot a way to take advantage of this man's weakness for liquor.

"Of course I know, Dug, you're a better man than Sanders or Crawford either, but Malapi don't know it yet."

"I'll show him!" cried the enraged bully.

"I'll bet you will. No man livin' can make a fool outa Dug. Doble, rustle the evidence to send him to the pen, snap 'n' his fingers at him, and on top of that steal his girl. That's what I told—"

Doble leaned across the table and caught in his great fist the wrist of Steelman. His bloodshot eyes glared into those of the man opposite.

"What girl?" he demanded hoarsely. Steelman looked blandly innocent. "Didn't you know, Dug? Maybe I oughtn't to 'a' mentioned it."

Fingers like ropes of steel tightened on the wrist.

"Don't do that, Dug! Em Crawford's girl."

be hours before I can spare a man for the ridge. We not to get help in a hurry. You ride to town and rustle men."

The canon above them was by this time a sea of fire, the most terrifying sight Bob had ever looked upon.

Monster flames leaped at the walls of the gulch, swept in an eyeball's twinkling, attacked with a savage roar the dry crash of mountains meeting. Thunder could scarce have made itself heard.

Sanders was in the office of the Jackpot Company looking over some blueprints when Joyce Crawford came in. "Dad told me something last night, Mr. Sanders. He said I might pass it on to you or Bob, though it isn't to go further. It's about that ten thousand dollars he paid the bank when it called his loan. He got the money from Buck Sanders was in the office of the Eyngton."

"Buck?" exclaimed the young man. "I know," she explained. "The money wasn't his. He's executor or something for the children of his dead brother. When he heard Dad was so desperately hard up for cash he let him have the money. Now it has been straightened out. That's why Dad couldn't tell where he got the money. Buck would have been in trouble."

"I see."

A shadow darkened the doorsill.

HIS BLOODSHOT EYES GLARED INTO THOSE OF THE MAN OPPOSITE.

and Bob Hart stepped into the office. His first words were ominous, but before he spoke both of those looking at him knew he was the bearer of bad news. There was in his boyish face an unwonted gravity.

"Ma in the chaparral, Dave, and going home."

Sanders spoke one word. "Where?"

"Started in Bear Canon, but it's jumped out into the hills."

Joyce guessed the situation was a desperate one. "Is Dad in danger?" she asked.

"He answered. "No—not now, anyhow."

"What can I do to help?"

"We'll have hundreds of men in the field probably, if this fire has a real start." Dave told her. "We'll need food and coffee—lots of it. Organize the women. Make meat sandwiches—hundreds of them. And send out to the Jackpot dozens of coffee pots. Your job is to keep the workers well fed. Better send bandages and salve, in case some get burnt."

Sanders was on the road inside of twenty minutes, a group of horsemen galloping at his heels. Through the smoke the sun was blood-red. The air was heavy and heated.

From the fire line Crawford came to meet these new allies. "We're holdin' her here. It's been nip an' tuck."

Emerson Crawford was holding his ground, though on a bare holding it. "How are things up above?" he asked in a hoarse whisper.

"Good. We held the check-line."

"See it through. Say, son, look who's here!" His thumb hitched toward his right shoulder.

Dave looked down the line of blue-jackets, grimy fire-fighters and his eye fell on Shorty. He was still wearing chaps, but his Chihuahua hat had succumbed long ago. Man! festly the man had been on the fighting line for some hours.

"Doesn't he know about the reward?"

"Yes. He was hidin' in Malapi when the call came for men. Says he's no quitter, whatever else he is. You bet he ain't. He's worth two of most men at this work. Soon as we get through, he'll be on the dodge again. He's a good sport, anyhow. I'll say that for him."

When Shorty separated from Doble in Frio Canon he rode inconspicuously to a tendjeon where he could be snugly hidden from the public gaze and yet meet a few "pals" whom he could trust at least as long as he could keep his eyes on them.

Shorty was an outlaw and a bad man. He had killed, and might at any time kill again. To save the Jackpot from destruction he would not have made a turn of the hand. But Shorty was a cattleman. He was loyal to the hand that paid him. He stood by his pals, and he believed in and after his own fashion loved cattle and the life of which they were the central fact. To destroy the range feed wantonly was a crime so nefarious that he could not believe Doble guilty of it. And yet—

TRADE BOOM SEEN IN RAIL PURCHASES

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Pittsburg. — The C. L. & O. railroad is placing orders for 7300 freight cars, enough to make a train 59 miles long.

This is the biggest single order for freight cars in more than a year. It is about half as many cars as were ordered by all American railroads combined during the whole of 1921.

Burlington officials say they are ordering these cars "to be thoroughly prepared for the great volume of traffic which is destined to move with the coming revival of business."

STEEL MEN BRIGHTEN

The Burlington's freight car buying is producing an almost electric effect in the steel industry.

Some of the leading steel men see in it the beginning of heavy buying by the railroads.

The steel trade for months has been predicting that the next big buying movement in steel will start with a flood of orders for railroad equipment.

The roads are steadily getting in better shape financially. The bond market is shaping itself to provide the roads with plenty of purchasing power.

DAMMED-UP ORDERS

Steel experts say the railroads, to handle traffic efficiently during the next boom, will have to buy 10,000,000 tons of steel rails, 10,000 locomotives, 10,000 locomotives.

MODERN EVE BEATS SPEED RECORDS IN GETTING DRESSED

Economy of Motion and Better Styles Help Women "Get Ready" Quickly

"How long should it take a woman to dress?"

Well, in the first place, what does one mean by dressing? A toilette has many different stages of preparation. Even rapid dressers admit that an undertaking comprising bath, elaborate hair dressing, facial make-up, manicuring and the adjustment of clothes cannot be accomplished in less than an hour.

No woman who values her good looks and understands the art of making herself attractive attempts to dress in less time. But since the physical groundwork of the toilette is completed, the donning of the clothes should be a matter of minutes.

FIVE MINUTES FOR ACTRESS. "Give me five minutes and I can rearrange my hair and jump into any ordinary dress," said a chorus girl who performs miracles in lightning dressing.

Nonprofessional women cannot expect to equal that record, yet any girl who, receiving an unexpected invitation to the theatre, takes more than ten minutes to smooth her hair and change her frock and shoes is an inexcusable dawdler.

Unless, it may be, there is method in her delay. Cleopatra won Antony by apparent independence in keeping him waiting while she selected her jewels; Mme. Recamier held languishing lovers tumbling for hours while she completed her toilette, and modern man may be brought to heel by the same device.

ECONOMY OF MOTION. But the artless girl who distrusts these methods and really does want to get ready in a hurry should adopt certain proved principles.

The first essential to rapid dressing is economy of motion. We waste energy and time in futile darting across the room, in meaningless picking up and laying down of articles, in unnecessary rubbing and stroking.

Unless one is engaged in excruciatingly dirty work, the face can be cleansed by rubbing it over three or four times with a soapy cloth; therefore, why waste time in rubbing it a dozen times? Why use 100 strokes in brushing the hair when 25 will do just as well?

The systematic arrangement of clothes on chairs and in wardrobes is a big factor in quick dressing. It takes three times as long to get into garments that are scattered all over the place as it does to get into those that are piled neatly at hand.

CLOTHES ARE EASIER NOW. Still more important is the style of dress. No greater boon has been vouchsafed the hurried dresser than the one-piece coat frock and jumper. The adjustment of belts and high, tight collars adds minutes to the completion of a toilette.

The fit of a garment also affects the time required to get into it. A frock that falls naturally into place on the figure is donned in half the time spent on one that must be coaxed and pinned into shape.

On the whole the modern woman is the quickest dresser of her age. She has known for many generations, even her ancestors, evening frocks being models of ac-

SOCIETY WOMEN, IN MELODY STUDIO, TURN OUT MUSIC AND VERSE

By Ruth Abeling
New York. — Three daughters of three attorneys with three apartments adjoining, all sharing the cleverest studio ever!

The three women who thus work together are Mrs. Charles Hopper, Mrs. Jimmie Bolger and Mrs. Enrico Caruso, all recognized in New York's social world.

Mrs. Hopper is the widow of Charles Hopper, wealthy actor and the original Jimmie McFadden.

Madame Caruso is the widow of Enrico Caruso, famous tenor. Mrs.

Bolger's husband is a New York financier. And out of the trio a genius at musical composition is developing—Mrs. Charles Hopper. Mrs. Hopper has two songs which have just been published: "You are like a violin" and "Some Folk's Religion."

The latter has been put in "Shuffle Along," a popular New York musical show. At present she is working on an opera at the request of a theatrical producer. She writes both the music and the lyrics.

Nine-thirty every morning finds the three women settled in the studio back of their apartments. Mrs. Bolger writes verse and short stories. Madame Caruso has written lyrics for several published songs. One is "Gloria's Lullaby," and the other is "Little Brown Owl."

"But we're both more interested in Mrs. Hopper's work than we are in our own," says Madame Caruso. "She has the real gift which we want to develop."

LETTERS TO LOVERS

Cause For Revolt

By Winona Wilcox

I never had good times with the boys and girls.

"I was so conscientious that I was always studying. Now I am sorry enough. I realize my loss and I wonder if there is any way I can regain what I have lost."

"In the last two years I have proved myself a successful teacher, but that does not satisfy me. I am 'strictly out' of all the social affairs which my younger and older sister attend."

"Both are engaged. I am not. I never will be. The way it looks now I used to pride myself on being an old-fashioned girl, but now it's plain that I'm going to miss the best in a woman's life on account of being so serious about duty and sacrifice."

"I'm as pretty as either of my sisters. I've worked while they have played. They are happy while I am wretched. And it isn't fair."

"I cry in the night! And if you can't show me the way out, what can you offer in consolation?"

ANSWER: The fact that if you had your life to live over, you'd probably repeat your past experience.

Students of human behavior consider this "to be true." The idea, at least, provides an interesting topic for thought and discussion.

For consolation, remember that when you are 40, if still unwed, you will perceive that life strikes a fairly even balance of happiness between spinster and wives. The spinster at 40 has missed some joys, but also she has escaped many anxieties and griefs.

The main trouble with this young girl's reasoning is, after all, a common error. "Be good and you'll be happy," say the smilers and comforters.

That is true in a limited way. But many people reason that if they are good, they ought to be rich; or if rich, they must necessarily be virtuous; or if virtuous, they surely are entitled to find their soul-mate and live happily ever after!

This mistaken reasoning is as tragic as it is common. We do not get a spiritual reward for a material effort.

And we do not acquire an emotional or sentimental reward because we happen to be capable of loving greatly, or because we happen to be "worthy of a good husband," or because we could "make a man happy."

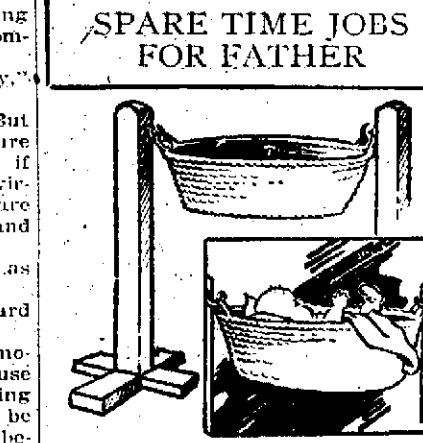

Dozens of lovely girls write me distressfully of their longing for a home and children. Often am I reminded of the line from Thomson: "Don't thou marry for munny, but go where munny is!"

Thus the old farmer summed up the two dominant factors in the making of all marriages—in modern parlance—"opportunity and propinquity."

Budapest. — Three qualifications for woman suffrage are provided in the bill establishing a new Hungarian electoral system, which will be enacted shortly. Women over 24 who earn their own living are academically educated wives of state officials or are mothers of at least three children are entitled to vote.

All literate males over 24 will be allowed to vote.

SPARE TIME JOBS FOR FATHER

When it is morning or afternoon nap time for baby, it often happens that mother is cleaning the room where the baby bed is in.

Why not a home-made bassinet? It is simple to make. Just two standards with spreading cross pieces to hold them erect, and an ordinary oblong clothes basket. Hang the basket from screw rods, screwed into the end of the standards. Enamelled white, this makes a fine baby bed, easy to move about.

Remove from fire and let stand in a cold place till well chilled. Add the whites until light. Fill the orange shells with this mixture and let stand till thoroughly chilled.

ORANGE FRITTERS. These are awfully good to serve with roast duck or chicken.

Three oranges, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons warm water, 1 dessertspoon oil, 1 egg (white), 1/2 teaspoon salt, granulated sugar, powdered sugar.

Peel oranges and break in sections, dividing each orange in sixth or quarters, according to size. Sprinkle with granulated sugar and let stand while preparing the batter. Sift flour and salt into mixing bowl. Add oil and water gradually and stir until perfectly smooth. Then beat well. Let stand an hour.

Add the white of the egg beaten till stiff and dry. Dip each piece of orange in the batter, drop and deep hot fat and fry until lightly browned, about 10 minutes. Drain on brown paper and dredge with powdered sugar. Serve at once.

MUST "REFORM" MOVIES, CHICAGO WOMAN DECLARES

Wealth of Emotional Thrills Squandered Every Year, Woman Leader Charges

Chicago. — The wealth of "emotional thrills" squandered annually on cheap movies is worth many times more to the youth of America than the actual monetary cost of the "picture show habit."

That is the opinion of Mrs. Estelle L. Moulton, president of the league of women voters, who has launched a campaign here for separate movies for children.

"Most of the films shown in Chicago are unfit for even high school children," she asserted. "The pictures work them up into such emotional states that they are unable to apply themselves to their studies."

"The $46,000 spent annually by students of six Chicago high schools is as nothing compared with the nervous energy the boys and girls are burning each month."

Children who go to movies regularly are getting the low grades, she found from a survey of Chicago schools. "They are flighty, nervous and unable to concentrate," she said.

"Slap stick comedies," exaggerating home life, bedroom scenes, and "close ups" of the long "soul kiss" were named by Mrs. Moulton as among the undesirable in modern movies.

This type of movie is undermining our educational efforts," she said.

"Children are such imitators that great care should be exercised in choosing their films."

"We must have special shows for each age—children, newly-weds, and old people. The children should be shown pictures of travel, fairy tales and clean comedies. Old people can stand almost anything. They are not in the formative period."

COLORS. Noticeable among the new color combinations is a tendency toward red and blue. A brilliant red with a deep warm blue is seen much.

Polly and Paul--and Paris Chapter 34—The White Elephant

BY ZOE BECKLEY

Two days after the Violet's stormy exit from Paul's office, a long envelope came in the mail bearing Rigaud's business card in the corner. "In accordance with my promise to let you know the decision my company has reached in regard to your esteemed proposition," etc., etc. — Paul's searching gaze fairly blurred the typewritten words and ran down the sheet, "we hand you herewith our order—"

Acceptance! Almost a million dollars worth of his firm's product to equip factories in devastated northern France!

Paul's eyes blazed, his face flushed with triumph. Then with a sick shock, realizing the source of the contract, he thrust it from him. Violet Rand had got it for him. She had gone to Rigaud with heaven only knew what blandishments, and forced the outcome.

He tossed the letter with the important looking contract upon his desk and paced the floor. What an abominable situation! The order for his firm's product, worth a million dollars, had been secured by a woman who had no right to do so!

"This type of movie is undermining our educational efforts," she said.

"Children are such imitators that great care should be exercised in choosing their films."

"We must have special shows for each age—children, newly-weds, and old people. The children should be shown pictures of travel, fairy tales and clean comedies. Old people can stand almost anything. They are not in the formative period."

"We must have special shows for each age—children, newly-weds, and old people. The children should be shown pictures of travel, fairy tales and clean comedies. Old people can stand almost anything. They are not in the formative period."

Then a voice whispered insinuatingly. "But why? She has done it with the best intentions. How do you know she used questionable methods? She knows Rigaud. She could have explained in a score of ways, getting the contract from him by straight 'talking points,' as you yourself have so often set forth to her."

"But she's not the woman to use 'talking points,'" conscience took up the argument, "she has done it to put you in her debt."

The door opened and Polly's bright smile appeared.

"But, dear—" her face clouded, "is anything the matter? Perhaps I ought not to come to your office? I was in the neighborhood—"

"—and you did just right to come, dearest! It's nearly six and I'm tired as an old mule pulling a load of scrap-iron uphill on a hot day. I'll just straighten my desk and we'll go to dinner somewhere nice!"

But Paul's face was troubled. Polly watched him worriedly as he turned to his desk. On a corner of it she caught side of the envelope with Rigaud's name in the corner. Her heart sank.

"Oh, my dear, my dear, now I know why you look so troubled. It's that beastly Rigaud thing still Paul, I'll never, never forgive myself for—"

She broke off, noticing the signed order and the contract. She picked it up from the desk and read it, as though not believing her eyes.

"Why—why—it's an acceptance!" She stared. "How wonderful! Why didn't you tell me dear?"

"I was—going to, Polly. Come on, let's go out and celebrate!" She followed him suddenly silent.

MAYORESS IS CLEANING UP CAROLINA VILLAGE

Raleigh, N. C. — Miss Maude R. Satterthwaite, mayor of Stonehall, N. C., is cleaning up that town in two respects. Its streets are becoming more attractive under her administration and its morals are improving.

Stonehall is a well placed, but it has the largest Sunday school in proportion to population in the state. Ninety-seven per cent. of the residents are members of this community Sabbath school. Miss Satterthwaite is the sup-

Why Fabric Makers Use Olive Oil Soap

These Facts Throw New Light on Washing

It is possible now—and easy—for women to obtain the same softness and freshness in the family washing that the manufacturers get in washing their fabrics with olive oil soap.

Textile mills avoid the ordinary laundry bars containing "filler." They use olive oil soap because it does not fade colors, and imparts softness and sweetness that only olive oil can. The Palmolive Company has recently created a homelaundry bar that contains both olive oil and naphtha.

This remarkable soap is called GREEN ARROW—and is actually green. That's on account of the olive oil in it, and there's nothing that makes clothes whiter and softer.

Facts Unknown by Women. There never has been another soap like Green Arrow. It contains no "filler," "Filler," a substance with no washing value, is mixed into ordinary laundry bars so they can sell as "bargains."

But the "filler" sticks in the strands of the threads, makes clothes look streaked and gray, and rots the fabric. Some day little holes appear in sheets, towels, napkins and tablecloths. A nearly new night dress splits at the shoulders, or underwear and petticoats break in the seat and you blame the goods.

You never suspect the "filler" in soap because you can't see it and don't know it gets into clothes.

Twice the Soap per Bar GREEN ARROW SOAP is practically the only all-soap laundry bar on the market. And it's the most economical, not only because it contains more soap, but because it saves expensive clothes.

GREEN ARROW contains about double the amount of soap of many brands. Not because the GREEN ARROW bar is bigger. It is not. But because it is all SOAP—pure soap—without "fillers." Naturally one bar will wash as much as two ordinary bars containing half "filler."

And GREEN ARROW does not redden or burn the hands the slightest. Order from your grocer and use half the quantity for the family washing. Treat your clothes the way the maker does when new. Then they'll look new and keep new.

Wounded Hero Making Good In Sculpture

Baltimore. — John Aversa at first was a waiter in a Baltimore restaurant.

Then a United States soldier in the World War.

Then a disabled war veteran.

Now he is in Rome studying sculpture and showing great promise.

In a hospital with his left hand paralyzed by a gunshot wound Aversa loved to dabble in clay. So the veteran's bureau trained him in sculpture here, then sent him abroad.

"We're the Twins," answered Nick for both of them, "and we've come after Kip. Do you know if he is within?" Being in Fairland it sounded far more fairly like to say "within" than just plain ordinary every day "inside."

"Kip," exclaimed the voice in surprise, "so you're after Kip! But what do I care whether you are after Kip or not? Do you know how to play 'truth'?"

"Y—um h'm," nodded Nancy, almost but not quite forgetting Pim Pim's warning about saying "yes."

"Well then, come inside and we shall have a game," went on the voice. Whereupon, an ugly little gnome stepped out of the shadow and opened the gate.

The cat's eye blinked solemnly.

WILL MAKE ARMY UNIFORMS TO FIT

Special to the Post-Crescent.
Washington. — The army is going to dress up its crusade against the ill-fitting uniform which for so long a time has caused the enlisted man as well as the public to complain.

Orders have now been issued providing for the alteration of army uniforms at the time of issue. Where there are quartermaster tailor shops the alteration will be made there. At camps where there is no tailor the fitting will be done under contract. But the suit must fit the War Department has decreed.

Complaint has been widespread too the War Department acknowledges regarding the campaign hat now being used. However, nothing can be done about that at the present time as there are on hand some 750,000 such hats required during the war which will have to be used up before a change can be made, the department states.

CITY PROFITS BY PIGS AS GARBAGE CONSUMERS

Lansing, Mich. — Pigs may be pigs but in Lansing Michigan, they mean municipal pork, are the official garbage consumers and return the city a profit of $1,000 a month. Lansing is justly proud of its piggery. The pigs—about a thousand of them live in a real white city and dine on articles from the very best tables thus taking care of one of the great civic problems, disposal of garbage. Some time ago, the plan of a private company to take the garbage and convert it into chemicals, proved unsuccessful. Then the city went into the business of raising pigs.

HILL AND MAHMOUT WRESTLE TWO HOURS TO DRAW

BIG GRAPPLERS ON EVEN TERMS IN FAST MATCH

Great Heavyweights Engage in Fierce and Strenuous Bout in Armory G

George Hill of Appleton and Yusuf Mahmout, the "Terrible Turk" wrestled two hours to a draw Friday night in Armory G. The men put up a fierce and strenuous struggle and when time was called at the end of two hours Referee Barney Rhodes announced that the match was a draw. The decision was the only one that could be given and met with approval of the fans.

Two more evenly matched men never appeared together within the ropes of a wrestling ring. They struggled and tussled for the entire two hours of the match and at no time was either in serious trouble. Several times the mighty strength of Mahmout saved him from a fall, while the marvelous speed of Hill kept his shoulders off the mat and prevented the invader from getting holds that would bring defeat.

BOTH MEN CAUTIOUS
The men responded cautiously as they were sent on their way at 9:50. They pulled and tussled around the ring trying out each others strength. After two minutes they went to the mat with Hill behind the Turk. Mahmout was up in a few seconds and the real battle was on. They tried for hold after hold and after five minutes of grappling the Turk went to the mat when Hill caught him by the grip and began trying for a toe hold. They wrestled all over the ring with Hill on the offensive and having the best of the battle. The Appleton man was constantly behind his opponent and kept the Turk on the defensive.

After 15 minutes of fierce grappling Hill caught Mahmout with a toe hold. He kept the grip for nearly two minutes but the Turk broke loose and went behind the Appleton athlete. Hill applied the toe hold on Mahmout four times in quick succession and twice had the invader punished. Mahmout broke away. Toward the end of the first hour the Turk put a bar arm on Hill that gave the local man trouble and had his shoulders close to the mat but Hill squirmed out and was on his feet and behind Mahmout before the Turk could right himself.

TRICK WORKS EASILY
Mahmout took things easy for the first hour and was content to let Hill force the wrestling. He constantly took advantage of his mighty strength to break holds and wear down the Appleton man. After one hour of wrestling time was called and the wrestlers given ten minutes of rest. Mahmout appeared tired as the men went to their dressing rooms and if a decision had been given at that period Hill would have been declared the winner.

The Turk came back strong for the second hour and took the offensive. The grapplers went to the mat after three minutes of scrambling around the ring with Mahmout behind Hill. The invader then started in to show his real wrestling ability and applied hold after hold but Hill's great speed kept him out of danger. Hill fought back every step of the way and surprised and worried Mahmout with marvelous speed that enabled him to get away from all of the Turk's grips that have brought him victory over the greatest wrestlers of the world in his long career on the mat.

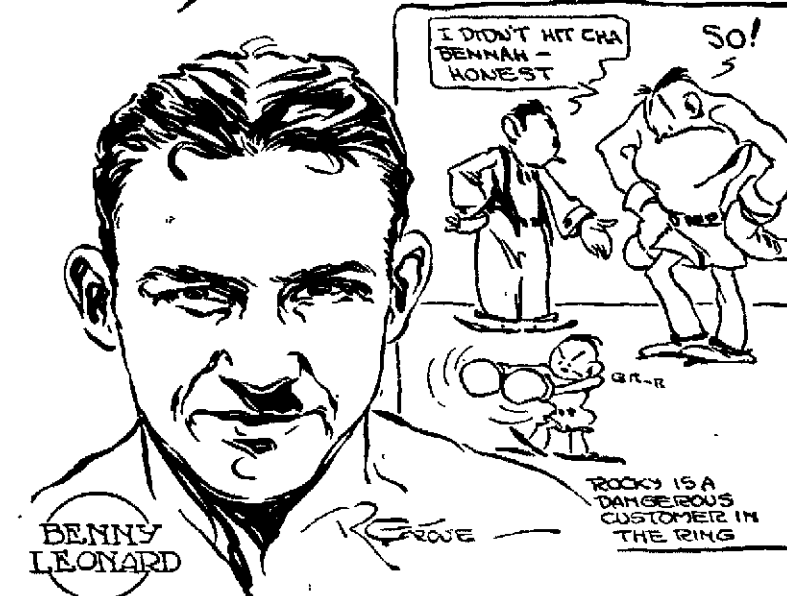

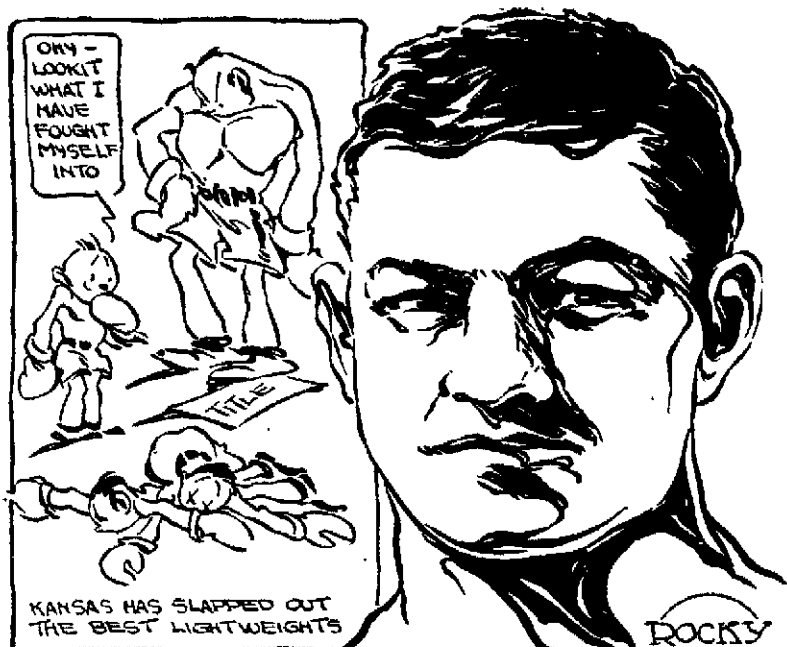

TRIES FOR TOEHOLD
Mahmout tried desperately to get a toe hold on Hill but did not succeed in applying the grip once in a way that gave the local man trouble. Hill applied the toe hold time after time but the invader slipped out of every one without taking much punishment. After 24 minutes of grappling Hill put a toe hold on Mahmout and held on for more than a minute but the Turk broke loose and was behind Hill at the 30 minute mark when time was called for five minutes of rest.

Both men responded for the final 30 minutes of grappling determined to win. They lost no time as the referee sent them into battle and were on the mat after a few seconds of pulling. For the first ten minutes of the final half hour they wrestled on even terms with neither at any time close to a fall. However, the mighty strength of the Turk began to tell and with 20 minutes to go he appeared the fresher and stronger of the two. He started an offensive that kept him behind Hill but he was unable to apply a hold that worried the Appleton wrestler or put him in a bad way. A few seconds before the two hours of wrestling was over Hill broke loose from a body hold and jumped to his feet. As time was called the men were struggling on their feet in the center of the ring.

MAKES GREAT SHOWING
The showing of Hill was a delight to his many friends and admirers in Appleton. Yusuf Mahmout is one of the greatest wrestlers in the world and a man whom all the topnotchers have been stepping for years. Hill in wrestling the "Terrible Turk," a man who has not suffered defeat in more than 300 matches and who has not lost a fall in over 350, two hours to a draw, demonstrated that he is one of the world's best heavy-weight grapplers.

Four fast preliminaries and a semi-windup were on the program. In the curtain raiser Lawrence gained two falls over Torow. The first coming in one minute and 10 seconds and the other in one minute and two seconds. The boys weighed in at 100 pounds. In the second preliminary Keith Nickerson of Lawrence college threw

Meet Friday For Title

By Billy Evans
Rocky Kansas is to get another shot at the lightweight title when he meets Champion Benny Leonard on February 10 in New York.

The bout is to be 15 rounds to a decision. While Leonard is picked to retain his title without much difficulty, Kansas unquestionably has a chance.

As far as class is concerned, it is all with Leonard, yet Kansas is the type of fighter who must be feared. He is strong, willing and has plenty of courage. He likes to fight. That makes him dangerous.

Kansas is a peculiar looking fighter. He is short of stature with hairy chest and long arms which are constantly flying through space. In a hope they will connect with a vital spot on his opponent.

Last year was a big one for Kansas. He jumped from the ordinary reformer to a championship contender.

He scored knockouts over such boys as Jimmy Duffy, Richie Mitchell and Bobby Ward.

Kansas also received the decision over such classy performers as Willie Jackson, Lew Tindler, Frankie Britt and Johnny Ray.

On June 6, 1921, Kansas had a chance at the title when he met Leonard in a 12-round bout at Harrison, N. J. It was a no-decision affair so Kansas' only chance was to win by a knockout. Leonard was the master of the situation at all times, although Kansas was always dangerous and finished strong.

Kansas is taking the coming bout most seriously. He is confident that Leonard is in for a busy evening. If training and effort mean anything Kansas has a great chance.

Evidently Leonard is not in the least worried, as his manager, Billy Gibson, has booked three fights that are to follow the Kansas affair.

The (dumpy) squat little Italian from Buffalo meets Benny Leonard for the lightweight championship in Madison Square garden.

It has been sheer pluck behind his elevation from a prelin boy to a championship bout that will bring him $17,500 as well as a chance to fame and fortune.

Leonard will enter the ring tonight an overachieving favorite despite the frequently expressed belief that he is not himself at 135 pounds. With his known distaste for the judge system of awarding decisions, the champion's backers think that he will go in to win by a knockout to avoid any chance of losing his title by poor judgement of the officials.

APPLETON HIGH READY TO MEET FONDU QUINTET

State Prep School Championship Contenders Play Friday in Fond du Lac

Facing the hardest game of their schedule but fit and ready for a bitter struggle Appleton high school basketball tossers left Friday noon for Fond du Lac where Friday night they clash with the strong Fond du Lac preps in a battle that will be the crucial test of the season for both teams.

It will be a tussle between two quintets fighting for the state championship; two teams so evenly matched that for two seasons overtime games have been necessary to decide the winner. Last year Fond du Lac lost the state championship to Appleton in an overtime game in the Oshkosh Normal tournament by two points. This year at Appleton the Orange and Blue triumphed over the Fond du Lac aggregation by a 15 to 14 score in an overtime game. It will be a wonderful battle. Both teams are going in midseason form.

This year's Fond du Lac quintet is the fastest aggregation gathered together under the Fond du Lac colors for five years and the team has been appointed to the Appleton game for the last two weeks. The battle will be staged in the big Coliseum in Fond du Lac. The size of the floor and the fact that they will be playing before their own supporters will be a big advantage to the Red and White tossers but Coach Vincent's athletes are confident they will put over a victory.

The Appleton team has been coming along at a rapid pace during the past few weeks. Vincent has developed a wonderful high school squad. Its defense is impenetrable, its offense fast and furious and its teamwork bewildering to opposing aggregations. The Appleton athletes are in great physical shape and have all the confidence that comes to well drilled and well conditioned athletes. They realize they are facing the hardest game of the season Friday night.

Coach Vincent took eight players to Fond du Lac for the contest. The team will lineup as follows:

Briese and Zussman, forwards; Laughlin, center and Ashman and Havens guards.

Leonard will enter the ring tonight an overachieving favorite despite the frequently expressed belief that he is not himself at 135 pounds. With his known distaste for the judge system of awarding decisions, the champion's backers think that he will go in to win by a knockout to avoid any chance of losing his title by poor judgement of the officials.

Today's Sport Angle

A recent news item carried the statement that golfers who desired to compete in national amateur championship next summer would have to convince the eligibility committee that they are of championship caliber.

In other words, the committee on rating doesn't want any player other than a star to try to enter the championship event.

That is a rather peculiar procedure, since the national open is supposed to be an invitation to all golfers who believe they have a chance.

Scores are not always the best way to judge a player's real worth. In real competition certain players have it all over others who, with nothing at stake, can play a game that is practically unbeatable.

It is claimed that experience in national amateur events has shown that nearly half of those who enter the qualifying round have no chance of surviving.

It hardly seems proper to judge the fitness of play of any entrant without giving him a chance to prove his worth. That is what the preliminary rounds are for.

It doesn't seem fair for a committee on eligibility to tell any player who desires to enter that he can't simply because said committee doesn't seem to think he is of championship caliber.

In most sports class will ultimately prevail. Golf is no exception.

It is a rarity for some unheralded player to now down a big field, although such things have happened.

Certainly the year Ouimet defeated Ray and Vardon, no one gave him much of a chance before the start of the tournament.

It would seem that no player would care to enter unless he believed he had a chance. Therefore it doesn't seem fair to have a committee count him out before play.—B. E.

LAWRENCE FIVE LEAVES FRIDAY FOR TWO GAMES

Blue and White Plays Beloit and Milton Quintets on Trip South

Coach McChesney and ten Lawrence college basketball tossers left Friday morning for Beloit where on Friday night the Blue and White will go into action against the strong Beloit college quintet in a game that may decide the state championship. If Beloit wins the struggle, the team from near the state line will have the title clinched, while if Lawrence cops Friday night's game the Blue and White and the Gold will be on even terms in the race for the Wisconsin minor college basketball championship.

Lawrence men are in fine shape for the battle. They have put in two weeks of hard practice in preparation for the game with the result Coach McChesney will send into action Friday night an aggregation of basket tossers with a great brand of team work and deadly accuracy in locating the hoop. The Beloit team defeated Lawrence by one point here two weeks ago but the Blue and White failed to get any of the breaks in game. With the breaks being equal in Friday night's struggle the Lawrence athletes believe they will put over a victory.

Following the game Friday night the Blue and White cagers will leave for Milton where they play the Milton college team Saturday. Lawrence is expected to defeat Milton by a large margin. The LaCrosse Normal five won't from Milton Tuesday night by a score of 54 to 14.

Lawrence will line up as follows: Ziebell and Collings forwards; Basing, center; Smith and Sorenson, guards.
